*When you sow with humility,
you reap a great harvest.*

Ber-Gust Farms, located in SE Allen county, was established in 1992. With a heritage of organic truck patch farming, we proudly raise our fruits and vegetables, our cows, our honey bees and our poultry using only all-natural methods. Our growing methods are actually "better than organic".

In this time of factory farms, food contamination, and the threat of bio-terrorism, we firmly believe that a local source for safe and healthy foods is necessary. We also cannot talk about wellness and healthy lifestyles without looking at what we eat. Fresh, locally grown produce is a great place to start. Buying local gives you the freshest foods, the ability to know your farmer, be confident in the safety of your food and is positive for the local economy.
